

Smaller Scale but Big Benefits: The need for regional surface storage

North Bay Water Reuse Program

Grant Davis,
General Manager
Sonoma County Water Agency

Statewide Perspective

- Add regional-scale storage as an option to meet diversity of circumstances throughout the state
- Discussions surrounding large-scale storage are important - at the same time, we can't lose sight of the smaller-scale opportunities that will cumulatively provide big yields
- Such storage is critical to boosting the regional self-sufficiency current state policies seek to enhance

North Bay Water Reuse Program Overview

Regional-Scale Storage Benefits

- Recycled water is a year-round supply
- Storage in the North Bay
- Funding for Regional-Scale Storage Benefits

