

Presentation on Department of Water Resources' Integrated Water Management project

Background

The Department of Water Resources' (DWR) Integrated Water Management program includes the following divisions:

- Statewide Integrated Water Management
- Integrated Regional Water Management
- Flood Management
- Safety of Dams
- Bond Accountability

As part of the ongoing efforts to strengthen coordination and program delivery for public safety, environmental stewardship, and economic stability, the program recently embarked on a project to improve awareness of its programs both internally and externally. Part of that project was the preparation of an informational 'storybook' highlighting approximately 60 key programs and projects.

Gary Bardini, Deputy Director for Integrated Water Management will make a presentation to the Commission on the project including its objectives, outcomes, and next steps.
