

Report on State Water Project Tour

Background

On October 18, 2012, Commission members Andy Ball, Joe Byrne, and Joe Del Bosque met with State Water Project staff and toured several State Water Project facilities in Southern California. The tour started with a briefing at Vista Del Lago Visitors Center in Gorman, and continued with visits to the Warne Power Plant, Quail Lake, California Aqueduct bifurcation, Alamo Power Plant, the Civil Maintenance Facility at Oso Pumping Plant, and Edmonston Pumping Plant. The Commission members had the opportunity to talk with staff and management about project operations, construction and maintenance, power and energy, regulatory issues, staffing, and future opportunities and challenges.

The California Water Code (§165) and the Commission's Strategic Plan call for the Commission to conduct an annual review of the progress and construction of the State Water Project.

Commission members will provide a brief summary of the tour.
