

Briefing on Draft Discussion Paper: BDCP and Delta Farmland

Background

DWR staff has developed a draft discussion paper on the effects of the Bay Delta Conservation Plan (BDCP) on Delta farmland. This paper was developed apart from the BDCP process and is intended to encourage dialogue among interested parties about the issues and opportunities that may result from the BDCP for agriculture in the Delta. The paper describes agricultural land stewardship practices and an integrated approach for working landscapes stressing multiple benefits projects and long term partnerships.

DWR attorney Katy Spanos will brief the Commission on the draft discussion paper.
