

Update on 20x2020 Water Conservation Program

Background

SBX7-7, the water conservation bill passed as part of the 2009 Comprehensive Water Package established requirements to maximize the state's urban water efficiency and conservation opportunities and to achieve a 20 percent per capita reduction in urban water demand by 2020, and beyond. The Commission has been involved in many key policy decisions and the approval of regulations to promote greater water use efficiency in the urban, agricultural, and commercial/industrial sectors.

At this meeting, DWR staff will update the Commission on progress and compliance with the 20x2020 target.
