

Sites Reservoir:
Good for California

TIME TO ACT
Building Sites Reservoir is critical to a more reliable water supply.

Even in this drought, if Sites Reservoir was in place, it could have stored more than 400,000 acre-feet of water from storms last winter.

That's enough water to:

- Dramatically help salmon runs
- Provide habitat for wintering waterfowl
- Supply additional water for urban use
- Grow more than 100,000 acres of crops
